

Heirloom Festival

Saturday, September 26

IN THE SCULPTURE GARDEN
10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

“Collecting seems to bring out that primitive instinct for the hunt in some of its devotees, who stalk their prey with skill.” -Alicia Faxon

Learn more about the objects you love, from family heirlooms to garage sale treasures as leading art dealers and appraisers donate their time and expertise in the areas of Native American art and objects, prints and paintings and decorative arts. The opinions and appraisals they offer are for educational purposes only. $10 for the first item; $25 for three (limit three items per person). Be prepared to wait in line and be entertained by all you hear. Proceeds support Maryhill Museum of Art.

HEIRLOOM APPRAISERS

Through the generosity of the following well known Northwest antique and fine art experts we are able to bring this new signature event to Maryhill Museum.

Sheryl Acheson is the Oregon Regional Representative of the international auction house Bonham & Butterfields. Her particular area of expertise is all things Asian, especially Japanese. www.bonhams.com/us

Deborah Boskin has been with the auction house Bonhams & Butterfields since 1998; she has a degree in Art History, as well as a Fine Arts degree with a focus on jewelry and metal crafts. Deborah also spent nearly a decade working in the jewelry industry. Based in San Francisco, she travels extensively for Bonhams & Butterfields as a jewelry and watch appraiser. www.bonhams.com/us

Yves Le Meitour is a long-time friend of Maryhill, who, more than 22 years ago, launched Le Meitour Gallery in Portland, Oregon; the gallery specializes in paintings by American and European artists. Over time his business expanded to include an Oregon Historical Gallery, solely dedicated to Northwest art. Both galleries offer appraisals, full estate services and conservation work. Yves will be available to look at paintings and fine art. www.oregonhistoricalgallery.com

Since 1974 Arthur W. Erickson has operated a small arts and antiques shop in Portland, specializing in Native American art and artifacts with a focus on the Columbia River Basin and Plateau regions. Arthur personally selects every artifact for historical value, aesthetic appeal, and interest to collectors. He offers appraisals, consignments and other services. For those who own Native American pieces, this is a special opportunity to learn from one of the area's most knowledgeable collectors. www.arthurwerickson.com

Hendrik Sharples With more than 25 years of experience appraising all types of personal property, Hendrik is a specialist in the areas of coins and stamps. Appraisals and property disposition are now his primary business; his clients include the US Bank Trust department and numerous attorneys and trust departments in Portland, Salem, and Vancouver. www.hendriksharples.com
