

Dear Friends,

The dog days of summer are upon us but the museum is as busy as ever. In September we will partner with the Columbia Center for the Arts in Hood River to present Too Much Coffee Man Opera; this zany production is called Gonzo Opera, featuring fantastical plots and sub-plots that you won't find in traditional opera, but filled with the same caliber of opera singing. Too Much Coffee Man Opera is the brainchild of Portland-based comic artist Shannon Wheeler (whose work is featured in a current exhibition at Maryhill) and composer Daniel Steven Crafts. It's been produced across the U.S. to enthusiastic, sold-out audiences and we're thrilled to be part of bringing it to the Gorge. Please plan to join us for what is bound to be a fun and entertaining evening.

Our Car is King Weekend will take place October 4 and 5 with two days of auto-themed activities for all ages. Take time to peruse the muscle and classic cars, or watch the vintage race cars take on the hairpin curves of the historic Maryhill Loops Road. Kids can enjoy the ever-popular veggie car races, putting their own engineering ideas to the test.

Finally, if you haven't had a chance to visit us this season, now's the time to do it. Our exhibition African Art from the Mary Johnston Collection is the museum's first ever presentation of African art and it's a wonderful show. We've got comic art from The New Yorker, the female form drawn from Maryhill's own collections, and evocative beadwork and glass by Angela Swedberg, inspired by American Indian art.

See you at the museum!

ANNUAL WINE AUCTION RAISES MORE THAN $80,000

More than 200 guests gathered for the fifth annual Best of the Northwest Dinner & Wine Auction on June 28, enjoying a fun-filled evening in support of Maryhill. Before dinner, attendees were treated to a tour of the Rodin Gallery, led by curator Steve Gafe, many later enjoyed tasting featured regional wines while bidding on a wide selection of items in the silent auction. Under the tent on the Cannon Power Plaza museum trustees and MCs David Savinar and Lee Weinstein injected fun and frivolity into the live auction. The centerpiece of the fantastic evening was a wonderful meal, crafted by chef Mark DeResta of the Riverside restaurant at the Best Western Plus Hood River Inn, featuring fine foods from Painted Hills Natural Beef, Gilmore Fish Smokehouse, Grand Central Baking Company, and Seed to Table Farms. Many thanks to the generous donors—local wineries, individuals, and businesses who helped make this event a huge success. Supporters of this year's auction can be found on the back cover.

Special Exhibitions at Maryhill

In addition to the museum's permanent exhibitions, the following special exhibitions are on view through November 15, 2014.

AFRICAN ART FROM THE MARY JOHNSTON COLLECTION

African Art from the Mary Johnston Collection features traditional masks, sculptures and other objects from West Africa. Central to tribal life, these objects are intended to praise powerful kings and tribal chiefs, made for home altars and village shrines, or created for use during initiation rites, festivals, religious ceremonies, funerals, and masquerades. All of the objects come from the collection of Mary Johnston of Florence, Oregon, who inherited the items from her brother, and has spent the last two decades of her life studying and sharing the pieces. The exhibition is sponsored by Laura and John Cheney and produced with curatorial assistance from the Hallie Ford Museum of Art.

ANGELA SWEDBERG: HISTORICITY

Artist Angela Swedberg's cast and blown glass pieces, in combination with other materials, are inspired by historic and traditional art forms. Swedberg is also a well-known restorer of antique American Indian art.

THE FLIP SIDE: COMIC ART BY NEW YORKER CARTOONISTS

Work by six artists whose cartoons regularly appear in The New Yorker magazine. Guest-curated by Shannon Wheeler, a Portland based New Yorker cartoonist and author of the critically acclaimed Too Much Coffee Man. Support for the exhibit and related programs is by Puget Sound Energy.

MARYHILL FAVORITES: THE FEMALE FORM

Explore the Maryhill Favorites Gallery, featuring works that highlight the female form in composition, including Solitude by Frederic, 1st Baron Leighton of Stretton and William McGregor Paxton's The Red Fan, among others.

Native American artists and students through story sharing and art. Together, they explore ideas of homeland, culture and ecology. This special exhibition includes Spirit Masks created with the guidance of artist Lillian Pitt, by students from Mosier Community School (Mosier, OR) and Dallesport Elementary School (Dallesport, OR).

This program is organized by the Confluence Project and made possible by the generous support of Brot and Mary Bishop, Native Arts and Cultures Foundation, Roundhouse Foundation, Oregon Cultural Trust, BNSF Railway Foundation and Mid-Columbia Medical Center.

TOO MUCH COFFEE MAN OPERA

A zany, hilarious, and romantic tribute to the wonders of coffee bordering on the fantastical. Too Much Coffee Man Opera is based on the comic character of Shannon Wheeler, with music by Emmy-Winning composer Daniel Steven Crafts. It is the first of what is now called Gonzo Opera—a real opera (not parody or pastiche) which allows singers to do all the wonderful things they can, but using wild and crazy plots and situations one would never expect from traditional opera. Too Much Coffee Man Opera premiered in Portland in 2006; since then it has been produced in a variety of cities including San Diego (at ComiCon), Albuquerque and the Astoria Music Festival, always to sold-out audiences. Co-presented with Columbia Center for the Arts and sponsored by Bicoastal Media and Hood River Coffee Roasters.

A temporary exhibition of Shannon Wheeler's work will be available for viewing at the Columbia Center for the Arts each night. This program is held in conjunction with the exhibition at Maryhill Museum of Art: The Flip Side: Comic Art by New Yorker Cartoonists sponsored by Puget Sound Energy.

Venue and cost: Performances are general seating; tickets are $25 ($20 for members of Maryhill Museum of Art or Columbia Center for the Arts). A discount of 10% is available to groups of 10 or more. Tickets can be purchased online at www.maryhillmuseum.org, in person at Columbia Center for the Arts and Wacoma Bookstore in Hood River, or at Maryhill Museum of Art in Goldendale, Washington. Museum News

The museum's Mary & Bruce Stevenson Wing, designed by GBD Architects of Portland and opened in May 2012, was recently awarded U.S. Green Building Council (USGBC) Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) Gold rating.

Constructed with minimal impact on the landscape and natural environment, the wing is largely underground to maximize energy efficiency. In addition, the wing was constructed with a number of green features, making it even more sustainable. The concrete floors feature radiant heat and the Cannon Power Plaza acts as a solar reflector, keeping the spaces beneath it cool. Native plantings reduce the heat island effect and provide a storm water catchment system to filter rainwater and eliminate downhill erosion. An irrigation halo around the campus provides new protection against the frequent brush fires of the region. Ultra-low flow water fixtures and energy-efficient lighting is used throughout. Recycled materials, such as site-harvested Columbia River basalt, and certified wood are also featured.

The new wing houses the museum's M.J. Murdock Charitable Trust Education Center, The Brim Family Research Center, and Loie's: The Museum Café. Exterior spaces include the Cannon Power Plaza and the Broughton and Mary Bishop Family Terrace, both providing expansive views of the Columbia River Gorge below and Mount Hood in the distance.

The contemporary wing is smart, sustainable, and honors the design of the original building, considered by many to be an icon of Washington State. The Mary and Bruce Stevenson Wing was honored as Engineering News Record (ENR) Northwest's 2012 Best Project.
